2009... is proving to be a very exciting year! Lang's commissions include new works for Joffrey Ballet, Kansas City Ballet, and a return to Richmond Ballet. She will also be creating and restaging work on Ailey/Fordham's BFA Program, University of Richmond, Goucher College and Texas Christian University.

Currently Lang is restaging her piece, La Belle Danse on Cincinnati Ballet for their March performance series at the Aronoff Theater. Lang is also creating a new work commissioned by the National Dance Foundation of Bermuda for their annual fund-raising gala in February.

Irina Dvorovenko and Maxim Beloserkovsky continue to perform Splendid Isolation III with a return trip to Berlin, Germany as guest artists at the Malakhov and Friends Gala. They will also be performing the work for The Petroushka Ball, a fund-raising event for the Russian Children's Welfare Society at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City.

Lang recently had a week-long residency at Booker T. Washington High School for the Performing Arts in Dallas, where she restaged two works, Prayers, originally commissioned by NYU Tisch School of the Arts, and excerpts from Waxing and Waning, created on the Juilliard Dance Ensemble. She also taught a weekend of master classes in Ballet and Improvisation for the Alabama Dance Council's 12th Annual Alabama Dance Festival.

Thank you for your continuous support.

“La Belle Danse” began the evening with a well-plotted burst of joyous dancing to Handel, Corelli, Mozart and Josquin Des Prez. The look of the choreography was influenced by Ms. Lang's study of Baroque dance as a student at the Juilliard School. But she has sublimated the elegant fidgets of the period's dancing into a swirl of graciously forming circles and lines of dancers. Unexpectedly timed and executed exits and entrances accent the flow, as do brief passages for small ensembles...”
